Co-ops for the Win!

Check out this article about how a group of students on the UC-Berkeley campus kicked a major fast food venue off campus and replaced it with a local, student-run Cooperative grocery & deli! Go co-ops!

Dear Robyn,

The Terre Foods Co-op is in the middle of some serious work that will bring the co-op much closer to opening-- stay tuned for more soon!

In the meanwhile, we've got some great events planned for this summer! Below are some of the events right around the corner; at the end is a prospective list of events for the remainder of the summer.

If you want to take the Beginning Beer Brewing Class this Saturday, you need to register today with April Osburn at aosburn@clabbergirl.com, or at 812-478-7113. There are still seats left, and we need to meet a minimum registration in order to host the class. See below for more class details!

Terre Foods Classes: Beginning Brewing

THIS SATURDAY, JUNE 6, noon-2pm, Clabber Girl Kitchens

Have you ever wanted to try your hand at brewing your own beer? It's simpler than you might think, and quite a lot of fun! And you get a delicious beer at a fraction of the cost of high-end exports. Join Brian Morton and Colin Pizerak as they introduce you to the basics of extract brewing (i.e., starting with grain extracts, rather than the more advanced whole grain brewing). This class will cover the equipment, ingredients, and techniques necessary to do extract brewing in your own home.

"The Future of Food"

Terre Foods Film Series, Saturday, June 20th, 7pm, the Hippodrome at 8th & Ohio

Terre Foods, in conjunction with Downtown Terre Haute and the White Violet Center, is launching its first Film Series this summer, and invites you to join us for a screening of the moving "The Future of Food". From the film's website:

THE FUTURE OF FOOD offers an in-depth investigation into the disturbing truth behind the unlabeled, patented, genetically engineered foods that have quietly filled U.S. grocery store shelves for the past decade.

Admission is FREE (donations are accepted). Come out and enjoy some of the great movies being made about our changing food landscape!

Benefit Concert for Terre Foods

7th & Elm, Thursday, June 25th, 9:30pm

Christina Blust, Travis Dillon, and the band Cuba, will be playing a benefit concert for Terre Foods on June 25th. Come out and listen to some great music, have a great time, and support your co-op! $5 cover charge goes to Terre Foods. This is gonna be a great time--bring your friends and have a blast!

Farmer's Market Opens THIS WEEKEND!

Corner of 9th and Cherry, every Saturday, 8am-noon

Terre Foods will be back at the Downtown Farmer's Market this year, and it is shaping up to be a great year! Lots of new vendors, along with our returning favorites. Stop by the Terre Foods table and pick up all the latest info on our store's progress. Together we can create our local and organic co-op right here in Terre Haute, but we need your help! Find out how you can become a member-owner and help our store become a reality. We are on track for opening in the Spring of 2010!

What's to come?

Future Terre Foods Events

- Continuing Film Series showings
- July: Blueberry Festival fundraiser for Terre Foods!
- August: Salsa Cookoff at the Market!
- October (tentative): Terre Foods 5k Run

In Cooperation,

Robyn Morton
